

Welcome aboard, Camille Smith!

Washington Maritime Blue Hires Camille Smith as the Contract and Finance Manager.

Camille is a finance and administrative professional who came to Maritime Blue after six years working for Ashesi University Foundation. She holds a Bachelors in Business (Finance) from Truman State University and a Masters in Public Administration from the University of Washington's Evans School of Public Policy and Governance.

As the Contract and Finance Manager Camille will be responsible for the daily financial operation of Washington Maritime Blue. This position oversees contract and grant management, payroll, accounts receivable, financial documentation, and supports grant reporting and HR. Camille will be assisting the VP of Operations in reporting on the financial status of the organization to program directors and managing the inflow and outflow of organizational funds.

Camille was born in Washington but grew up in Kansas City, Missouri, and is proud to call Seattle home again after moving back in 2017. She was led to Maritime Blue by a passion for environmental sustainability and a desire to give back to the local community. With a background in international development, Camille believes strongly in the importance of equitable program design and values opportunities for cross-cultural collaboration. In her free time Camille enjoys knitting, running, and spending time with her family.

We are excited for Camille to grow and develop our custom operations architecture and support our dynamic team!
